

A man to be assigned to the bus. . ."

Refused the incident occurred at the intersection of Bibb and C Streets, on March 2 when the bus driver, Robert V. Ward, requested Claudette Colvin and another Negro girl who was seated beside her to move to the rear of the bus. The girl heeded the request and was brought out in testimony. Claudette balked. She still refused to move after Patrolman E. R. Callahan, summoned by the driver, pushed her head in the rear door of the bus and again asked her to move.

Put On Indefinite Probation

Negro Girl Found Guilty Of Segregation Violation

A 15-year-old Negro girl was placed on indefinite probation by Juvenile Court Judge Wiley C. Hill Jr. yesterday for violation of the city segregation law by refusing to move to the rear of a City Lines bus when requested by

of 622 E. Dix-ced, studios

looking high school student accepted the court's ruling with the same cool aloofness she had maintained throughout her hearing.

Appeal Is Planned

Fred D. Gray, 24-year-old attorney who represented the girl along with Negro Atty. C. Langford, announced immediately after the decision he would file an appeal to circuit court.

Thetford, who served as prosecutor, moved at the close of the hearing to consolidate three charges against the girl. She was charged with disorderly conduct, assault with a deadly weapon against Patrolman J. Ward, and violation of Section 6, Section 11 of the Mobile City Code which makes it unlawful for any passenger to refuse or fail to take a seat when those assigned to the race to which he belongs. . ."

Refused To Move

The incident occurred at the intersection of Bibb and C Streets, on March 2 when the City Lines bus driver, Robert V. Ward, requested Claudette Colvin and another Negro girl who was seated beside her to move to the rear of the bus. The other girl heeded the request and was brought out in testimony. Claudette balked. She still refused to move after Patrolman E. R. Callahan, summoned by the driver, pushed her head in the rear door of the bus and again asked her to move.

A squad car containing Patrolman Ward and Paul Headley arrived, and the girl refused to move at their request. The officers then carried her to the bus. Ward said as he was pushing her in the rear of the bus the girl "hit, scratched and bit" him. He finally got her in the bus and Officer Headley, standing around the other side of the bus, placed handcuffs on her. Judge Hill ruled the girl should be placed on probation for 30 days. Other orders of this court were read out the juvenile court clerk: (1) impose a fine or a month in jail but had three months to place the girl in the (2) place (3) place 1

Segregation Reset

The trial of the girl who was charged with violating segregation laws to yield her seat to a white person on a City Lines bus rescheduled for March 10. The hearing had been set for March 9 but was postponed tomorrow.

A juvenile court hearing on the charges against Claudette Colvin, charged with assault and battery, disorderly conduct and violating the segregation law, was postponed to the death of the slain juvenile Court Judge Wiley C. Hill Jr.

The girl was allowed to remain in the bus and clawed at the driver last week.

REBELLION

was on my mind that day

—Claudette Colvin