COLLEGE OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

EWU's College of Social Sciences (CSS) offers academic and cultural programs that focus on a wide range of human issues and experiences—just one reason Eastern is recognized as a model diversity-serving institution.

- + CSS boosts EWU's mission to embrace equity and social justice in our communities through programs such as Africana Studies, American Indian Studies, Chicana/o/x Studies, Disability Studies and Gender, Women's & Sexuality Studies.
- + The Family Resource & Training Center (FRTC) engages with communities to provide support services for children, families and their caregivers. FRTC develops resources, training and education to support permanency planning for children.
- + Whether helping a Spokane neighborhood develop local park improvements or helping a small town map out a vision for the future, Urban & Regional Planning students solve critical infrastructure and design issues.
- + CSS is partnered with Gonzaga Law School to establish a unique 3+3 program, which allows EWU students to earn their bachelor's and Juris Doctorate in six years instead of seven.
- + Each election cycle, the college hosts engaging political forums so students, faculty and staff can interact with candidates on the state and local level.
- + Since 1980, EWU's Archaeological and Historical Services (AHS) has provided cultural resource management for the it's clients. AHS is a grant/contract research program that helps clients meet compliance requirements pertaining to the inventory, protection and enhancement of archaeological and historical resources in the Northwest.

Approximately one-third of EWU graduates are from CSS disciplines

Students in the School of Social Work perform field training in over 750 agencies

Nearly 3,000 cultural resource management projects have been completed by Archaeological and Historical Services
